

COLLEGE OF INSURANCE,
INSURANCE INSTITUTE OF INDIA, MUMBAI
Agriculture Insurance
Program ID: CPG2
(From: 21st to 22nd May, 2018)

Relevance of the program:-

The country's priority of providing insurance support to the highly vulnerable agricultural sector has been evidenced through the 5 year plans, NITI Aayog and different Governmental initiatives, the latest being the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY). The rural landscape and associated risks are changing fast and the insurance industry has been responding to the needs by providing policies based on different approaches like protecting input costs, loss assessment by crop cutting experiments, parametric, weather based, etc.

Securing claims and monitoring mass schemes susceptible to high levels of sensitivity, moral hazard and political overtones are quite challenging.

As the country is gearing itself up to protect the risks faced by farmers through various schemes, insurers need to understand the technical merits and demerits of the different approaches and models used.

Program Objective:-

The Program seeks to help participants in the following:

- ✓ Understand the behavioural environment in which Agricultural insurance works
- ✓ Appreciate the merits and demerits of the different approaches towards crop insurance
- ✓ Discuss the salient features of the popular policies in the market
- ✓ Evaluate the challenges in assessment/settlement of claims

Participant Profile:-

This program is designed for professionals working in insurance companies and broking / surveying areas having 2 years' exposure to agriculture or rural insurance or having a good working knowledge about this line of business.

Program Duration: - 2 days from 21st to 22nd May, 2018.

Timing : 10.00 a.m. to 05.00 p.m.
