Relevance of the program:-

Recent enactments and regulations have changed the Indian reinsurance market forever. However, Reinsurers are bullish on India and looking at gaining a foothold in the country.

India has faced a few natural calamities in the recent past such as the Uttarakhand flood, the J & K flood, the Hudhud cyclone, the Chennai Floods, etc. Claims are found to spike during such catastrophic situations and insurance companies need to deal with various concerns ranging from a liquidity crunch to situations of ruin, based on how well they have planned for dealing with such eventualities. For managing the risk that it has taken up through contractual obligations, it becomes very important for any insurance company to have a robust and appropriate reinsurance program.

Reinsurance is truly global in nature. Reinsurers are able to assume some of the world's largest and most complex risks because they can spread risk on a global basis. There are various concerns that insurers face in developing their reinsurance strategies and implementing them – improving capital-efficiency, enhancing their capacity to accept more than what their financial resources would ordinarily allow, protecting their account from catastrophic events or abnormally large losses etc. In the words of one of the Indian experts in the field, 'Act of God perils are insurable only because they are reinsurable'.

Through this program the College of Insurance aims to provide a stronger theoretical framework to insurers and others involved in designing reinsurance treaties and bring in a higher degree of professionalism in their work. It also seeks to acquaint them to the changing trends in market practices and in the process broadens their professional and academic horizon by exposing them to professionals in multiple spheres of marketing.
