

COLLEGE OF INSURANCE
INSURANCE INSTITUTE OF INDIA, MUMBAI
Bancassurance for Banks: A Special Module Session for Principal Officers

Program ID: CPB4
(From: 04th to 05th October, 2018)

Relevance of the Program:-

Bancassurance has come to stay in India, accounting for a fifth of life insurance premiums. With mounting competition and other forces impacting net interest margins [spread], banks are today in search of newer and non-traditional areas of operations, especially relating to fee based activities/non-fund based activities. Bancassurance is one of those areas that provide great scope for increasing earnings without the menace of NPAs. Again, with India's middle class evolving beyond primary financial needs met by the banking system, financial institutions are today seeking to become one stop financial boutiques that offer end to end solutions for a range of life cycle needs felt by customers. Life Insurance, as a most effective vehicle for risk mitigation and long term financial security, is a vital part of individual portfolios.

The IRDAI regulations provide that a bank [as a corporate agent] may tie up with a maximum of three life insurers, three general insurers and three health insurers for soliciting, procuring and servicing their insurance products. This is to be done through "Specified Persons" who are its employees, and who are appointed by the bank for soliciting of Insurance Business and its servicing. The Corporate Agent is responsible for maintenance of certain records and accounts and complies with the provisions of IRDA Act. 1999 and other regulations, etc.,

The Principal Officer is the nodal officer appointed at the bank, with responsibility for management of Bancassurance activities and to ensure compliance with the regulation. The role of the Principal Officer is onerous. He has to supervise the activities of the Corporate Agency. He has to play a vital role in the success of the Corporate Agent both in respect to sale and service of Insurance Products. He also bears the onus in the matter of regulatory compliance. The role calls for a deep understanding of the fundamentals of insurance and its practice, as also, of marketing and strategic skills for connecting to customers and building the business. It also calls for understanding of the regulation and its imperatives as well as administration and record keeping

This Program is designed to enhance the competencies of the Principal Officer who is the back bone of the Corporate Agency system and the driving force for success of business goals and compliance.
