Insurance Institute of India, Mumbai
Technical Aspects of Various Fire Protection Systems

Program ID: CPS1
(From: 20th To 21st August, 2018)

Relevance of the Program:-

In recent times, insurance companies have become increasingly aware of the importance of risk management and are taking better care of the safety installations in the factories and the building complexes that they insure. The importance of early warning systems to alert the workers of impending danger and importance of fire safety audits are also being increasingly focused upon by property insurers. Engineers and employees working in the property lines of insurance need to be abreast of the various fire protection systems for protection, prevention and minimization of losses emanating from industrial fires.

Program Objective:-

The program intends to create awareness about the various fire protection systems used in the industry and their suitability in different industries and in different types of fires. The importance of creating ex-ante systems maintaining them and conducting safety audits will be discussed.

Participant Profile:-

Engineers and Professionals working in property insurance including insurers, brokers, surveyors and customers of insurance interested in the area of safety, risk management, underwriting and claims

Timing : 10.00 a.m. to 05.00 p.m.
