

Virtual Training Session on Cattle Insurance and other forms of Rural Insurance - (CVT- CI&RI) - 9th February 2022

India has a long history of implementing different Insurance schemes for cattle, livestock, poultry, fish, honeybee etc. other than Crop. Currently, Indemnity based death and disability cover is offered in India both due to diseases and accidents. It involves multiple stakeholders including State governments, Insurance Companies, Financial Institutions, Farmers, agents etc.. Specific underwriting guidelines are framed depending upon the type of animals covered.

Cattle and livestock insurance schemes are promoted and subsidised by the Central and State Governments. The assets may be financed from any financial institutions. High Premium and its financing is a challenge when the insurance is done on market value basis. However, the fair assessment of claims repose confidence of cattle owner to continue insurance policies. Various technologies are being used and tried for implementation of cattle and other rural insurance in India and abroad.

Poultry, Duck, fish-in-Pond, Horse, Camel, Elephant, Honeybee Brackish water, Hydroponics, Mari culture Apiculture and sericulture are other forms of Rural Insurance, which can increase premium volume of the 'Rural Portfolio'.
